GARDNER'S REVIEW IN LAW AND EQUITY.

A Hand Book for Law Students.

This book is especially designed for students who are making their final preparations for admission to the Bar. It may also be found useful throughout the period of study. It gives a clear and concise statement of the leading principles of those branches of the law which are taught in the law schools of the country, and which form the subjects of Bar examinations. Brevity, Clearness and Simplicity have been constantly in mind in its preparation. Every statement in the text has been verified by an examination of authorities which are fully cited in the book, and which add substantially to its availability.

Some of the subjects treated in the book, which embraces an entire course of law studies, are the following :

The Feudal System, English Tenures, Real Property, Personal Property, Contracts, Quasi-Contracts, Evidence, Equity, Pleading, Torts, Bills and Notes, Agency, Bailments, Corporations, Criminal Law, Domestic Relations, Wills, Devises, Legacies, Partnerships, Sales, etc., etc.

From the Michigan Law Journal:—"This small volume covers in quite a comprehensive manner the whole field of law and equity. A mastery of it will possess the student with almost all the requirements for admission to the bar. It is beyond question the best work of the kind we have ever seen. In no other is the whole field so thoroughly covered. In no other can there be found such a perfect combination of clearness and brevity."

From the New Jersey Law Journal:—"This little book answers a long-felt want. To the student it will save a great deal of unnecessary work, for as a review it puts into brief compass all that is necessary, and we venture to say that if carefully followed, a candidate will have little difficulty in passing any examination at any bar to which he may apply for admission."

From the Yale Law Journal:—"The author has reviewed clearly and briefly the entire field of law and equity, and his book, containing a concise statement of the leading principles of each, is an epitome of the best text-books in use in our various law schools. The subject of real property, one of the most difficult to master, though treated with brevity, is nevertheless very clearly presented. The various estates are carefully defined, and then illustrated by well selected examples which materially aid the student in comprehending the technical differences of each. The chapter on Quasi-Contracts, a subject of increasing importance and one which many text-books overlook entirely, deserves especial mention for its concise but clear presentation. Among the other principal subjects discussed are Contracts, Torts, Pleading, Evidence, Criminal Law and Corporations. A student who masters this volume will have a clear knowledge of the principal subjects of law, and may approach a bar examination with confidence."

BEACH ON INJUNCTIONS, 1895.

Commentaries on The Law of Injunctions, as Determined by the Courts and Statutes of England and the United States.

By CHARLES F. BEACH, JR.,

Author of "Equity Jurisprudence" and "Practice," "Public Corporations," "Negligence," etc.

Two Volumes, $12.00 Net.

"In this treatise on Injunctions Mr. Beach has given the profession a very useful and practical book, one which will prove of great aid and assistance. The law as it is to-day is fully and carefully stated and the citations are numerous and to the point — The Green Bag.

"The arrangement of the work is logical, the statements of the law clear and positive, the discussion of principle carried out in full detail."—The American Law Register and Review.

PINGREY ON REAL PROPERTY, 1895.

A Modern, Comprehensive and Exhaustive Treatise on the Law of Real Property.

By DARIUS H. PINGREY, LL.D.,

Author of "Real Estate Mortgages," etc.

TWO LARGE VOLUMES, $12.00 NET.

"The work has been constructed on modern lines, and is a complete and practical treatise on the subject, serving at one and the same time the wants of the student and the practitioner. You are quite right in supposing that the law of real property has been essentially modified in this country, and it must be a great satisfaction to the profession to find a book which brings down the American decisions and the doctrines which they establish completely to date."—Hon. John F. Dillon, New York City.

"The work is received. I am very much surprised at its scope and magnitude. It is a monument of research and appears to include almost every phase of real estate law from the earliest times down to the present. No work of the kind could possibly be produced without years of study and patient investigation. Such a work as this is a credit not only to the author, but to the age in which we live, and I have no doubt it will be greatly appreciated by any lawyer who has any occasion to turn his attention to real estate law. It is deserving of the widest publicity and use."—Judge Elliott Anthony, Chicago.

"I have carefully examined your treatise on Real Property. Great ability and care are evinced in its preparation. It is an admirable work and will prove invaluable to the profession."—Vice-President Stevenson, Vice-President's Chamber, Washington. D. C.

HOWE ON THE CIVIL LAW.

Studies in the Civil Law and its relations to the Law of England and America.

By WILLIAM WIRT HOWE,

Late Justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana.

Judge Howe delivered the "Storrs' Lectures" for 1894-95 before the Law Department of Yale University on "The Civil Law and its Relations to the Law of England and America." The course excited much interest, and on it was based this excellent book. For this purpose the matter of the lectures has been revised and considerably enlarged, and many additional references to recent decisions in England and the United States have been added.

The author has written this book in the light of large experience, and the book differs in plan from the merely antiquarian and academic treatises on Roman and Civil Law. Its special feature of the work is the presentation of the leading principles of the Roman and Civil Law, and the tracing of their development and application in our own jurisprudence to the complications of modern life; thus taking up the comparative study of the Civil Law, and of the law as we have it now. The book will be of practical use, not only in our numerous law schools, but to those members of the bar who may wish to investigate the subject.

A PRELIMINARY TREATISE ON

Evidence at the Common Law.

PART I.—DEVELOPMENT OF TRIAL BY JURY. By JAMES BRADLEY THAYER, Weld Professor of Law at Harvard University.

The English-speaking people alone have a "Law of Evidence." This system exists because the jury exists. To make clear the nature and functions of the jury, the author has published this book on the Development of the Jury, as the first part of his "PRELIMINARY TREATISE ON EVIDENCE." The basis of the book, both PART I. now published, and PART II. to follow before long, is certain articles printed in the Harvard Law Review. Of these articles it is said in Pollock and Maitland's "History of English Laws" (Vol. II., page 602): "Lately Mr J. B. Thayer has published . . . three articles so full and excellent that we shall make our own sketch very brief. . . . We are glad to hear that Mr. Thayer is about to publish his papers in a collected form."

The Principles of Equity and Equity Pleading.

By ELIAS MERWIN, late of the Boston Bar, and Professor in the Law School of Boston University.
 Edited by HENRY C. MERWIN. 1 vol. 8vo, law sheep, $6.00 net.

This is a compact treatise, dealing with both Equity Jurisprudence and Pleading. Unlike the great majority of text-book writers, the author had an extensive practice, and was thoroughly versed in Equity. For several years before his death, Mr. Merwin lectured on Equity at the Law School of Boston University. The book is designed for students, but it will also prove useful to practitioners. It presents the subject in a remarkably concise form; it contains elaborate and carefully written notes on new subjects, such as Injunctions in cases of Strikes, "The Right to Privacy," and recent Trade-Mark Cases; and the whole book is at once so accurate, clear and readable that it will prove a distinct addition to the catalogue of indispensable law books. It has the classic literary qualities of Benjamin on Sales.

THE ELEMENTARY LAW OF REAL PROPERTY.

By GEORGE WARVELLE,

Dean of the Chicago Law School.

Author of Treatise on Abstracts of Title Vendors, etc.

---

The necessity for an elementary treatise upon Real Property for the use of colleges and students of law has been long felt. The same preparation is necessary to produce a concise treatise clear in its plan and of the same scope as to subjects as an exhaustive treatise as is required to produce the larger volume. Professor Warvelle has utilized his long study and practical investigation of the Law of Real Property in the preparation of this elementary treatise. The outline is the same required for a larger book. The treatment is full but concise.

One Volume. Regular Law Book Size. 350 Pages. $3.50 Net.

ELEMENTS OF THE LAW OF PARTNERSHIP.

By FLOYD R. MECHEM,

Professor of Law in the University of Michigan.

Author of Treatise on Agency and Public Policy.

Editor of Hutchinson on Carriers.

---

This is an elementary work designed especially for the use of students, and as a text-book in Colleges.

The work is the outgrowth of the teaching of the subject by Professor Mechem in the Ann Arbor Law School, carefully revised and elaborated.

The work consists of twenty-one chapters and two appendices. The treatment is full and complete but concise. The citation of case is very carefully selected and illustrates the latest as well as the older phases of the subject.

The demand for a concise and reliable work on this subject suitable for the use for which this work is designed will insure its hearty reception.

LAW BOOKS.

Among the new books of the year the most notable is Dicey on the Conflict of Laws, one volume, law sheep, $6.50 net. Prof. Dicey, who occupies Blackstone's chair at Oxford, is one of the clearest and ablest legal authors in England, and the text of this new work sustains his reputation. The American notes are by Prof. J. B. Moore of Columbia University, author of "Moore on Extradition," etc. The subject while especially interesting in our country, where we have so many coördinate jurisdictions, lends itself especially to international treatment, because our states are in many matters of law as foreign to each other as are the United States and Great Britain.

Another international book, nearly ready for publication, is Taylor on Evidence, Ninth Edition. This is the leading English work on Evidence, developed and perfected through eight previous editions, and now rendered doubly useful here by the exhaustive American notes of C. F. Chamberlayne, whose edition of BEST ON EVIDENCE is used in many law schools. As CHAMBERLAYNE'S BEST has been a favorite work with students, CHAMBERLAYNE'S TAYLOR will doubtless find equal favor with practitioners. The American edition will be in three volumes, at a moderate price.

In looking up points of law, do not fail to consult English Ruling Cases, another good example of the new class of Anglo-American law books rendered possible and profitable under our present international copyright laws. Vol. 9, just published, brings the topics covered down to "Dramatic Copyright." The set, when it reaches its limit of thirty volumes, will include all the cases in the whole range of English reports in all the courts which are of special value outside of England, with such copious American notes by IRVING BROWNE, as render the series of great practical value to our bar.

The Green Bag continues to be the comfort and delight of a large circle of legal readers. Do you see it every month?

To students, we shall be glad to send our catalogue, "Aids to the Study of the Law"; and to practitioners, our catalogue, "Recent Books," without charge.

What Folly! Yes, What Folly!

To pay $35 and $45 for a tailor made suit.
In ours at $16 and $18 you will find every virtue that is in the high-priced tailors' suit.

The cloth is there. The trimming is there.
The workmanship is there—all is there, and just because it can be put there for the money.
Not by all tailors, however, for then what would be the reward of the tailor who makes his business a study?
